WHAT IS EARLY INTERVENTION?

In North Carolina, early intervention refers to the system of services delivered by many different providers and programs for children birth to five and their families. This comprehensive, interagency system is called Together We Grow. There are two parts of Together We Grow - the Infant-Toddler Program for children birth to three and the Preschool Program for children ages three to five.

Infant-Toddler Program (Birth-3)

The CDSA provides evaluation and service coordination, and early intervention services through a network of community providers, for children ages birth to three who have special needs and their families. Early intervention services support families in caring for young children and helping them grow and develop. The goal of early intervention is to open a window of opportunity for families to help their children who have special needs develop to their full potential. Services are provided in the natural environment so that learning can occur in the context of routines and activities that are a normal part of daily life.

CDSA services may be requested by parents, family members, teachers, doctors, or other professionals or community members concerned about a child's development. Parent/guardian permission is required for all services. Evaluation, service planning and service coordination are provided at no cost to the family. While other early intervention services are not free, they are provided on a sliding fee scale that is based on the family's income and size. Medicaid is billed for services, and other insurance is billed with the family's permission.

Preschool Special Education Services (3 to 5)

The program includes all 3- and 4- year-old children who have disabilities. Five-year-olds with disabilities who aren't old enough for kindergarten are also included. The needs of these children (because of permanent or temporary disability in the areas of cognitive, communicative, social/ emotional and/or adaptive disabilities) are unable to be met in a natural environment without special education and related services.

This group includes preschool children who are delayed or whose development is atypical and those who have autism spectrum disorder, hearing impairment, health impairments, orthopedic impairments, speech-language impairments, visual impairments, or traumatic brain-injury. Preschool children with disabilities who meet these eligibility criteria may receive services upon reaching their third birthday.

WAKE COUNTY LME: DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES SERVICES (3-ADULT)

Services such as Case Management and Developmental Therapy (1:1 skill development in the home or community) are available to residents of Wake County who meet state eligibility requirements and as public funding allows.

These services are different from and in addition to those provided by Wake County Public Schools. Services are funded by:

- (1) allocation from state budget
- (2) Medicaid and/or
- (3) NC Medicaid Waiver: Community Alternative Program for I/DD (CAP-I/DD).

Services are intended to maximize independence so children can receive the support they need to avoid institutional care.

WHAT IF MY CHILD IS NOT ELIGIBLE FOR EARLY INTERVENTION SERVICES?

Wake County Human Services Care Coordination for Children Program (CC4C) is a care management program designed to improve health outcomes for children birth to five who are determined to be high-risk and qualify for services. Priority risk factors include children: with special health care needs, having or at increased risk for chronic physical, behavioral or emotional conditions and also requiring health and related services beyond that required by children generally; or those exposed to toxic stress in early childhood. All children identified as having priority risk factors will be assessed by a CC4C Care Manager (nurse or social worker) who will then provide services based on patient need.
